Chapter 1 by Ricky AdvaniDay 1Translated into english*

>Oh well, it's my first day at work! I hope Boris knows what he's doing. He said he had to make a few changes to reactor number two, three and four.

Its really quiet around here but when the reactor is running, it sounds like a thousand thunderstorms stuck in a capsule. It's quite a long walk from reactor one to reactor three. There are tons of security protocols and blah blah blah.

Dmitry got sick last week after something green fell on his hands and he had to be taken to the hospital immediately. Grigori, the head scientist was addressing us about wearing these funny yellow rubber suits. Everyone started to laugh as to how Grigori looked like a clown from the circus. I still do find it quite amusing

The weather outside is never really dull and is open to a plethora of entertainment and nature.

The sweet morning crisp smell of the woods really do rejuvenate your body while coming to work. Today was really a fun day. See more of Story Wars CommandCenter tomorrow.
